A group of five people, three men and two women, are seated around a long, narrow red table. The table is set with several glasses and apples. The room has a rustic feel with stone walls. One wall is covered with a large grid of photographs. In the background, there is a stage area with a blue carpet, a laptop on a stand, and a large black speaker. A white door is visible on the right wall. The lighting is dim, with some blue and orange accents from stage lights.
